

Major Commands and Reserve Components

■ 2015 USAF Almanac

Note: All data as of Sept. 30, 2014

Organization

U.S. AIR FORCE

The Air Force has 10 major commands and two Air Reserve Components. (Air Force Reserve Command is both a majcom and an ARC.) As major subdivisions of the Air Force, majcoms conduct a major part of the service's mission and are directly subordinate to Hq. USAF.

Major commands are organized on a functional basis in the US and on a geographic basis overseas. In addition to accomplishing designated portions of USAF's worldwide activities, they organize, administer, equip, and train their subordinate elements.

Major commands, in general, include the following organizational levels: numbered air force (NAF), wing, group, squadron, and flight. The majcom sits at the top of a skip-echelon staffing structure, which means every other organizational level (i.e., majcom, wing, and squadron) will have a full range of staff functions. The other organizations (NAF, group, and flight) are tactical echelons with minimal or no support staff. These tactical echelons are designed to increase operational effectiveness rather than to review and transmit paperwork.

There are two basic organizational schemes for Air Force major commands: unit-oriented organizations and major non-unit organizations. The more standard unit-oriented scheme comprises majcom, NAF, wing, group, squadron, and flight levels. The major non-unit organization scheme comprises majcom, center, directorate, division, branch, and section levels.

USAF has two types of major commands: lead majcom and component majcom (C-Majcom). (Some major commands are both lead majcoms and C-Majcoms.) A C-Majcom is the USAF component to a unified combatant command. The commander of a C-Majcom is the commander of air forces (COMAF-FOR) and may function as a theater joint force air and space component commander (JFACC) when required. A C-Majcom has one or more component NAFs (C-NAFs) through which it presents its forces to the combatant commander.

Numbered Air Force

A numbered air force, that level of command directly below a major command, provides operational leadership and supervision to its subordinate units (wings, groups, and squadrons). A C-NAF supports the commander of air forces at the operational and tactical level. USAF has designated some C-NAFs, rather than a majcom, as the Air Force component to a unified combatant command. In that role, the C-NAF functions at the strategic level as well as the operational and tactical levels and will have a broader staff. (On the following pages, NAFs with "Air Forces" designations, such as Air Forces Southern, are C-NAFs.)
